8.30am Welcome

8.45am Demo by David Gillard

David is well known for his pepper grinders, each with a unique exterior design. His hollow forms flow on from his love of the form, texture and finishes seen in ceramics. These have evolved with his own addition of embellishments and he likes the idea of being called more of a wood potter. He is also an agent for Munro Tools and other woodturning supplies. <https://www.woodgrainnzwoodturning.co.nz/>

2.15pm..... Afternoon Tea

2.45pm Demo by Michael Walker

My passion for woodturning began with many wonderful childhood hours spent turning with my grandfather. I am strongly influenced by my agricultural background, and draw my inspiration for turning from all aspects of life. In 2002 I broke my back. This was life changing and led to a career in wood art. Although I feel a strong affinity to functional turned goods it is Artistic work that really motivates and excites me. My artistic work ranges from wooden cowboy hats that can be worn to full sized abstract sculptural pieces.

4.00pm..... Break to visit the Trade Hall

4.30pm Demo by Robbie Graham

I aspire to promote woodturning as an art form and to give an illusion of “the nearly impossible,” so multi-axis and off-set turning techniques appeal to me. My inspiration comes from nature’s patterns and shapes, often embellished with designs based on a leaf motif, outlined and filled with pyrography lines and dots. Using mainly iridescent paints, I then enhance the repeating pattern. I have a passion for sharing my woodskills knowledge with others.

9.00am Demo by Terry Scott

I had my first taste of woodturning at high school, Woodturning took a backseat to my career and family until my daughters were in high school when I found South Auckland Woodturners Guild. My passion is burls and I am probably best known for my 'Mantaray' bowls and boxes as well as my 'Midas' vessels. I have demonstrated throughout NZ and overseas at Turnfest Australia, Utah, England and the Norwegian woodturning cruise.

10.15am..... Morning Tea

10.45am Demo by Rolly Munro

Rolly Munro has been sculpting wood since the early 1980's. His work has been inspired by land forms and coastal areas of New Zealand and he works mainly in native timbers. Most of his large commissioned sculptures have been done in pinus radiata, one of the biggest being the five pine sculptures owned by the South Waikato District Council which took Rolly six months to complete in 1989. He is also well known for designing excellent hollowing tools that is a result of over 15 years of experimentation and testing.

12.00pm Light Lunch

1.00pm Demo by Dick Veitch

Recently my woodturning has been focussed on a number of competitive exhibitions each year. The rules dictate the forms to be made, such as bowl, box, hollow form, platter, vase and may include a sculptural or ornamental category which allows greater freedom of expression. I gain a lot of pleasure from participating in woodturner gatherings. I contribute to the South Auckland Woodturners Guild website and write for Creative Wood.
